Connecticut Airport Authority Opens New Mother's Nursing Room at Bradley International Airport

Windsor Locks, CT – January 15, 2016 – Mothers traveling through Bradley International Airport will now find feeding their children a bit easier and more comfortable with the Airport's opening of a new, dedicated area for nursing needs.

"The CAA strives to make traveling through Bradley a convenient and enjoyable experience and we're pleased to have added this new amenity for the moms on the go," said Kevin Dillon, Executive Director of the CAA. "It is a great example of our ongoing efforts to respond to our customer's feedback and needs."

The Mother's Nursing Room is located post security, next to CNBC. It is available round-the-clock and features comfortable seating, a sink, a fold-down changing table and a power outlet for mothers who use electric pumps.

The opening of a designated area for mothers, is part of the CAA's ongoing work to enhance the overall travel experience for its passengers. Other recent initiatives include the installation of free cell phone charging stations throughout the concourse, addition of a TSA PreCheck enrollment center, upgrades to WiFi capacity and changes to concessions.

About Bradley International Airport

Bradley International Airport is the second largest airport in New England, with a customer base that covers the entire Northeast. According to the most recent economic impact analysis, Bradley International Airport contributes $4 billion in economic activity to the state of Connecticut and the surrounding region, representing $1.2 billion in wages and 18,000 full-time jobs.

About Connecticut Airport Authority

The CAA was established in 2011 to develop, improve, and operate Bradley International Airport and the state's five general aviation airports (Danielson, Groton-New London, Hartford-Brainard, Waterbury-Oxford, and Windham). The CAA Board consists of 11 members with a broad spectrum of experience in aviation-related and other industries, as well as government. The goal of the CAA is to make Connecticut's airports more attractive to new airlines, bring in new routes, and support Connecticut's overall economic development and growth strategy.
